“CVOC helped me obtain new skills to secure a better job”

Blanca Mendoza came to CVOC in late 2017 seeking job training that would help her confidently enter the workforce and provide quality service to an employer. With the help of CVOC staff members, Blanca enrolled in CVOC’s General Business Occupations training program. Prior to attending CVOC, Blanca was unemployed and only had worked intermittently doing warehouse production and nursery work; she wanted more. She wanted to learn marketable skills that could be applied in the current workforce and that would provide service and benefits to employers.

Blanca worked and studied hard throughout her training. She showed dedication and focus. She prepared herself by being organized and practiced her assigned mock interview assignments often. With the help of CVOC caseworkers, instructional staff, and job search preparation, she was able to obtain employment with a local employer as a full-time accounting clerk making $13.00 an hour.

Blanca is now working full-time. She is learning and growing in her current position. She is now able to better provide for her family and loved ones. In addition, she is expanding her skillset in the administration field.

Through CVOC vocational training, Blanca was able to successfully prepare for and secure employment. She is now applying many of her training tools, skills and competencies at the workplace on a daily basis. Blanca is very thankful to CVOC for helping her with training, employment preparation and encouragement!
